TRAIN SERVICE BY TOMORROW

BURLINGTON WORK TRAINS ARE BUSY TODAY.

TO PATTONSBURG NOW

Report From Gallatin Says River Rising Again—Morning Passenger Only Few Minutes Late.

Reconstruction work on the Burlington started this morning. About 100 cars of material have been left at various points along the line between here and Barnard. A hand car succeeded in getting through as far as Barnard.

The water is receding rapidly from the tracks and if the present weather continues, train service may be resumed tomorrow noon, according to an announcement this morning by W. E. Goforth, local agent.

Two work trains are already on the job, Mr. Goforth said. One is working between Maryville and Barnard and the other between St. Joseph and Barnard, and good progress is being made.

Wabash to Pattonsburg.

Trains on the Wabash are now running as far east as Pattonsburg, but it is not known yet when through traffic will be resumed. A report to the Wabash station here says the Grand river near Gallatin is rising again and that water is running over the track near that place.

Passenger train No. 12, due here at 10:45 a. m., this morning, was only twenty-five minutes late. It will go as far as Pattonsburg and will return as the evening passenger No. 3. Passenger train No. 3 from Brunswick will come as far as Chillicothe and will then return as No. 12.

The night train, No. 14, did not run last night. No report was received here on passenger No. 11 this morning but it was thought it detoured via St. Joseph to Omaha.

A train was made up at Stanberry last evening and came through Maryville on No. 3's schedule. The regular No. 3 passenger was detoured from Gallatin to St. Joseph and then over the Burlington to Darlington to the Wabash tracks. It arrived here at 11:55 p. m. Several Maryville people who were stranded in St. Joseph were on this train.

Arkoe Road Still Covered.

The 102 river still was about four feet deep over the road at the Arkoe bridge today, but the stream was falling.

Burlington Junction, Quitman and Skidmore had their first Burlington train today since Tuesday. It was run from the north.

Passenger trains were running again today over the Great Western railroad, but there was a break in service last night, due to trouble near Cawood.

Outdoor Basketball Season Opens Today

Opening the outdoor basketball season, six games will be played today in the Nodaway County Athletic Association, which includes all the high schools of the county except Hopkins and Maryville. Today's schedule is as follows:

Clearmont at Skidmore.
Elmo at Burlington Junction.
Barnard at Graham
Ravenwood at Guil
Harmony at Quitmai
Pickering at Conception Junction.

Rubber May Come From Middle West

Experiments Being Made With Corn and Potatoes To Find Synthetic Rubber.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 17.—Corn and potatoes may help the United States to wrest control of the world's rubber markets from the British, A. L. Freidlander, vice president of the Dayton Rubber Manufacturing Company, said on a recent visit here.

He declared that the manfuacture of first class rubber from such products as potatoes and corn may take years, but that a cheap process of making synthetic rubber ultimately will be found.

"A process now under experimentation involves the breaking up of the constituents of vegetables, such as corn and potatoes into alcholic products," he explained. "From that stage they go into rubber. Commercially it's not much good yet but the day of good synthetic rubber probably is coming."

Water Threatens Crop of Pumpkins

May Be Shortage Of Filler For Pies As Result Of Recent Damage To Fruit.

Shortage of pumpkins from which filler for luscious pies can be made is threatening because of the excess water, it is believed. The fruit will rest on muddy or damp ground after the waters have subsided and likely will rot in short order.

Hundreds of fine large pumpkins have been carried out of the fields by the high waters and in many cases the waters are covered with fruit, according to M. E. Seleeman, who returned to Maryville from St. Joseph yesterday. In some fields the water had covered the corn and the pumpkins, anchored by their vines, floated and bounced on the surface.

TO CONSIDER BRIDGE WORK

COUNTY COURT WILL TAKE UP PROBLEM TOMORROW.

PEOPLE HAVE TO HELP

Communities Will Be Furnished Material and Allowed to Make Own Repairs.—Funds Badly Needed.

The county court will hold a meeting tomorrow to consider what can be done to repair the many bridges in the county that are now impassable, Judge Charles S. Armstrong, a member of the court, said today while in Maryville.

The court is practically without funds to do any repair work on bridges and it is now confronted with a serious problem. No estimate has been made as to the number of bridges impassable and out of commission but it is thought that there are more than at any time for a number of years.

Judge Armstrong said many of the smaller bridges will not be repaired unless the people in the communities around them can assist and will do the work necessary if the court provides the material.

Judge Armstrong said he had had several calls about bridges being out and people wanting them made passable at once. He said the court was trying to do the best it can with what material and money it has.

The drainage ditch bridge, west of Barnard, is still standing and is declared to be safe for foot passengers. Judge Armstrong was trying to get two 40-foot poles in Maryville this morning for this bridge.

Judge E. T. Bailey and W. W. Randall, with a gang of men, went to the Graham community late yesterday to save a bridge which was washed out over the Elkhorn creek, near the Buie place. This bridge is a 40-foot steel span. After this bridge is put back in, Judge Bailey and Mr. Randall intend to go to Skidmore to put the river bridge, west of Skidmore, on its tubes. They may be unable to get to Skidmore on account of other bridges being out in that community.

It seems certain the bridges of the county will not be repaired as they should be unless additional money can be provided. And that means either a bond issue or an additional levy voted by the people, it is declared.

Back Taxes Sent Out by County Treasurer

Back taxes amounting to $6,495.52 have been apportioned and are being sent out this week to the various school boards, township trustees and road districts by Mrs. Bess Thorp, county treasurer.

The back taxes are distributed twice each year. Mrs. Thorp expects to receive the county apportionment of state school money soon.

Ends Army Service, Will Enter College

J. E. Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wright of this city, arrived at home last night after completing three years' service with the United States army at Brownsville, Tex. Mr. Wright, who was a member of Troop A, Twelfth Cavalry, left Brownsville on September 10 but was delayed in reaching Maryville by floods. He will enter the State Teachers College.

Mrs. Alma David of Pickering was in Maryville yesterday.

WATER ROUTS TWO FAMILIES

HOME NEAR GRAHAM TURNS INTO HOUSEBOAT.

RESCUED BY NEIGHBOR

Other Flood Victims Ride Out On Horses.—To Maitland Only By Rowboat.

Dwellers on the bottom land along the Nodaway river near Graham were forced to leave their homes early Thursday morning and flee to higher ground, and one house was swept off its foundation and carried, with all its occupants, more than fifty yards, according to belated reports reaching Maryville today.

Telephone communication between Maryville and Graham was cut off yesterdal. It was known that the rain of Wednesday night was heaviest in the vicinity of Graham, but details could not be obtained.

The house which was washed off its foundations was that of James Smith. He and his wife and three children were rescued about 4 o'clock Thursday morning by Jess Duncan, a neighbor, who hitched a team of mules to a wagon and drove out to the stranded home.

The house was standing in the middle of a field, with four feet of water in and around it. The members of the family were standing on a bed.

The house had broken in two, and the kitchen was entirely separated from the main part. Most of the family's clothing and household goods were damaged or were floated away on the swollen, turbulent stream. The family, however, was none the worse for the harrowing experience.

Grover Chappell, another resident of the bottom land, fled, with his wife and two children, from their home at 4 o'clock the same morning. They rode horses out of the water to the home of a neighbor. Later, accompanied by John Hopkins, they went back and rescued the remaining horses and cattle.

Many other houses and basements were flooded by the storm.

The river is over the road again, and the only crossing yesterday between Graham and Maitland was made by boat. Four bridges have been washed out, one at the foot of the Buie hill, one near John Baublitts, one near James Pennington's and the fourth near the Joe Cunningham place. A number of others have been rendered impassable.

W. A. Mann Dies at Home of Daughter

Funeral Services to Be Held Sunday Afternoon at First Methodist Church.

W. A. Mann, an old resident of Maryville, died at 8:15 o'clock last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Barnholt, 1001 East First street, following an extended illness of a complication of diseases. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist Church, conducted by the Rev. R. E. Musgrave, pastor of the Christian Church. Burial will be in Oak Hill cemetery. The body will lie in state at the Barnholt home Sunday from 10 a. m., to 1 p. m.

Mr. Mann was born in Crown Point, Ind. He was engaged in the restaurant business. Besides the daughter at whose home he died, the following children survive: Mrs. Nora Chubby, Griswold, Ia.; John Mann, Pickering; Mrs. Eva Snyder, Red Oak, Ia.; Will O. Mann and Mrs. Violet Damgar, both of Maryville; and Ed Mann, Orrsburg. He also leaves a sister, Mrs. Julia Kemp of Council Bluffs, Ia.; a half brother, Oscar Stram of Oregon, Mo.; twenty-five grandchildren and twenty great grandchildren. Mr. Mann had been a life-long member of the Christian Church.

Can Eat Three a Day, Says Cooper Gooden

Cooper Gooden, well known Maryville octogenarian, who has been confined to his home on East First street for several days, following a light stroke of paralysis is better today.

When an inquiry was made by telephone this afternoon, Mr. Gooden took things into his own hands. "Tell them I can eat three square meals a day—if my wife will cook them—and I will be ready to go to work by Monday," he instructed.

No Change in Policy Following Slaying

Strong Protests Have Been Registered With State Department But Mexico Adjusting Matter.

Washington, Sept. 17.—While strong protests have been made to the Mexican government over the wanton slaying by bandits of Jacob Rosenthal, there was nothing to indicate today that any appreciable change in the administration's Mexican policy is forthcoming.

On the contrary, the meager advises which the state department has received from the American embassy at Mexico City indicated to officials, it was admitted, that the Mexican government appears to have done everything in its power to avert the tragedy and is now taking all possible steps to adjust them.

ASSEMBLY AT COLLEGE

STUDENTS URGED TO ATTEND CHURCH WHILE HERE.

PRESIDENT SPEAKS

Uel W. Lamkin Asks That Common Sense Be Used In Driving And Parking Motor Cars.

Students of the State Teachers College were urged to affiliate themselves with some Maryville church at once and to make church attendance a part of their regular program by Uel W. Lamkin, president of the school, this morning speaking at the first regular assembly of the school year, Mr. Lamkin said:

"The great majority of you are away from home. Day after tomorrow will be your first Sunday in Maryville this year. I should like to see each student of the College attend church as regularly each Sunday as he attends his classes each day."

The College president spoke briefly on the subject of students bringing automobiles to Maryville with them.

"We haven't asked students to come here without their cars, and my observation of schools where this ruling is in effect has been that the greatest thing it does is to afford stories for newspapers.

"All that we ask is that you use common sense in driving and parking your cars."

Mr. Lamkin then asked that no cars be parked at the unloading places in front of and east of the administration building, and at the unloading place on Fourth street by the gymnasium.

In line with the custom of last year, the assembly this morning was opened with devotionals led by Mr. Lamkin. He will follow the practice of reading at each assembly the International Sunday school lesson for the coming Sunday. Assemblies at the College will be held at 10 o'clock each Wednesday morning, and all students are expected to attend.

The special assembly today was called for the purpose of making announcements to the students.

Funeral of Wilson Baby Is Held Today

Funeral services for Claude Wilson, jr., infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Wilson, sr., who died yesterday afternoon of cholera infantum, were held at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the Wilson home, 415 West Eleventh street. The Rev. R. E. Musgrave of the Christian Church officiated. A quartet composed of Mrs. F. P. Robinson, Mrs. R. E. Snodgrass, W. E. Goforth and John Mutz sang several selections. Burial was in Oak Hill cemetery.

Will Attend Board of Control Meeting

L. E. Ziegler, superintendent of the Maryville public schools, and William L. Mapel, director of information at the State Teachers College, will go to St. Joseph tomorrow to attend a meeting of the board of control of the Northwest Missouri High School Association. Mr. Ziegler is president of the association and Mr. Mapel is acting corresponding secretary in the absence of M. E. Seleeman.

Visiting at Lyle Home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Taylor of Seattle, Wash., are here for a visit at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lyle. Mrs. J. P. Jones of Omaha also came today for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle.

URGES MORE STATE POWER

HAWES ATTACKS FEDERAL CENTRALIZATION.

TOO MANY BUREAUS

Democratic Senatorial Candidate Assails Williams for "Wobbling"—Anti-Reed Spirit Passing.

St. Joseph, Sept. 17.—Missouri Democrats assembled here today to fire the opening gun in the state campaign.

Party leaders and their followers began to arrive last night and this morning's trains brought additional delegates which will swell the crowds at the rally this afternoon at the Lyceum Theater.

In the lobbies of the Robidoux and other hotels crowds assembled to discuss the issues upon which the campaign will be waged. The principal speakers this afternoon will be Senator James A. Reed and Harry B. Hawes, Democratic Senatorial candidate who will oppose Senator George H. Williams in the November election.

Senator Reed and a party of friends arrived from Kansas City shortly before noon.

The talk this morning is almost completely of harmony. While leaders are hopeful of victory, they are taking no chances of internal strife on such issues as the world court which provoked the controversy at the state platform convention meeting Tuesday. Mr. Hawes will wage a fight on the court. He stated his position on that issue at the opening of his primary campaign at Excelsior Springs last summer.

The state platform carries a plank in opposition to the world court which was adopted after two hours of wrangling.

The speakers this afternoon will pave the way for a vigorous onslaught on the tariff in the remaining days before the the November election.

Both Senator Reed and Mr. Hawes have denounced the tariff as a measure designed for the benefit of the industrial East at the expense of the agricultural West. Both spakers have blamed the tariff largely for the present conditions in the agriculture belt, pointing out that a high protective tariff wall causes the farmers to pay high prices for the goods they buy and receive low prices for the products they sell.

1,500 Are There.

Mr. Hawes was introduced this afternoon by Senator James A. Reed to an audience of 1,500 persons.

The Democratic Senatorial candidate launched immediately into an attack on Senator Williams and his campaign methods. Hawes charged that Senator Williams had employed Homer B. Mann of Kansas City and former governor Arthur B. Hyde to substitute for him in the campaign and that they were going before the voters with a plea in behalf of his candidacy.

Hawes accused Williams of "wobbling"; of carrying on a "whispering campaign," and of "digging up old issues" in order to have something on which to base his campaign. The Democratic candidate declared he intended to try to force Williams "to fight in the open."

Turning to national issues, Mr. Hawes criticized severely the growing centralization of power in the federal government at Washington.

Attacks Centralization.

"We cannot offer a panacea for every political ailment," he said, "but we can insist on a return to simplicity in government and a revitalizing of those processes which for 150 years of our history proved effective in the solution of our problems through orderly change. I condemn the ever-increasing centralization of power at Washington.

"One of the disastrous effects of this march toward a federal empire is the constantly increasing number of boards, agencies, bureaus and clerk-made laws. In the name of millions of persons carrying the burdens of taxation upon their shoulders resulting from increasing governmental agencies and this useless army of government employes who are duplicating state and national costs, I raise my voice in protest."

On farm relief, law enforcement, including Proposition No. 4, and the world court, Mr. Hawes read the planks from the Democratic state platform adopted in Jefferson City Tuesday dealing with these issues.

Premier's Removal Has Been Demanded

Cavalry Officers Forward Ultimatum To King Alfonso—A 72Hour Time Limit.

Paris, Sept. 17.—An ultimatum demanding the removal of Gen. Primo de Rivera from office as premier has been delivered to King Alfonso, according to a report received here.

The ultimatum, which has a 72-hour time limit, is understood to have been forwarded by all the cavalry officers serving in Morocco and is supported by many of the infantry officers.

All officers of the Spanish army in both Spain and Morocco are reported to be moving in concert for the dismissal of General de Rivera, there being great dissatisfaction with the recent artillery decree and also decrees regulating retirement from the army.

ASKS ARREST OF EVANGELIST

COMPLAINTS AGAINST PASTOR AND PARTY COMPLETED.

CONSPIRACY ALLEGED

Mrs. McPherson and Four Others Accused of Preparation of False Evidence In "Hoax."

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 17.—Complaints charging conspiracy to defeat justice were completed today against Mrs. Aimee Sempel McPherson, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at the Angelus temple, Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Seilaff, who confessed to plotting the "Miss X" hoax, and John Doe Martin, the man named by Mrs. Seilaff as the one who proposed the "Miss X" hoax to her.

There were two complaints against the five persons, it is said. One covers section 134 of the penal code, the public morals act, "to committ any act injurious to public health or public morals, or to participate in the restraining of justice in the administration of the law."

The second complaint is based on section 182 of the penal code, the preparation of false evidence.

The McPherson case complaints were filed in municipal court here today and steps immediately taken to obtain warrants for the arrest of Mrs. McPherson and the other persons involved in the case.

Coincidentally it was disclosed that Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator of the Angelus temple and a key figure in the McPherson case, who is to be surrendered to District Attorney Keyes, will turn state's evidence.

The complaints concluded with a plea that "a warrant be issued for the arrest of the said Aimee Sempel McPherson, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, Kenneth G. Ormiston, Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Seilaff, John Doe, Richard Roe and Sarah Moe that they may be dealt with according to law."

Bobby Jones Goes Into Golf Finals

Defeats Francis Ouimet in Semi-Final Round in Contest for Amateur Championship.

Baltus Row Golf Club, Short Hills, N. J., Sept. 17.—Bobby Jones won his way to the final round of the national amateur golf championship by defeating Francis Ouimet in the semi-final round this afternoon by a score of five up and four to play. Bobby will meet Georges Von Elm in the final round tomorrow, the latter having defeated George Dawson, Chicago darkhorse, in the remaining semi-final match by elevenu p and ten to play.

Bishop Is Exiled Following Charges

Nogales, Ariz., Sept. 17.—Charged with participation in the rebellion of the Yaqui Indians, Signor Navarette, bishop of the state of Senora, was exiled today in a manifesto issued by the state government of Senora. The manifesto, it was reported, was issued following instructions from Mexico City.

4 Note Suits Filed by Northwestern Bank

Four note suits were filed this afternoon in the circuit clerk's office by the Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction, through S. E. Evans, special deputy. These suits were against Albert A. Nichols, et al, James O. Stafford, Guy Clary and B. K. Hankins.

CARDINALS IN FIRST PLACE

ST. LOUIS REGAINS LEAD IN NATIONAL LEAGUE.

REDS LOSE TO GIANTS

Hornsby's Men, Winning from Philadelphia, 10-1, Continue Terrific Batting Assault.

The St. Louis Cardinals went back into first place today.

Continuing the terrific batting they began Wednesday, the Cardinals won their fourth successive victory over Philadelphia by a score of 10 to 1, while the Cincinnati Reds, who had won eight straight games, lost to the New York Giants, 5 to 4 in ten innings.

St. Louis now has a lead of one full game, with eight more to be played by each team. The season will end with a game between the Cardinals and Reds at Cincinnati.

Sherdel pitched the Cardinals to their victory today, while Willoughby, Knight and Teber tried to check the batting rampage.

Mr. Willoughby did not last long. Opening the first inning, Douthit, lead-off man for St. Louis, doubled; Southworth singled, scoring Douthit; Hornsby walked on four pitched balls; and then "Happy Jim" Bottomley hit a home run into the left field bleachers.

In the ninth, Tommy Thevenow, St. Louis shortstop, hit to the wall, and Leach, Philadelphia outfielder, trying for the catch, crashed into the wall. He had to be carried from the field and Thevenow scored.

The Cardinals added sixteen hits today to the forty-one they made in two games yesterday. Wednesday they made thirteen. The total of runs for the three days is fifty-two.

The summary.

Would Have Judges Aid in Testimony

Sub-Committee of Missouri Association for Criminal Justice, However, Rejects Proposal.

St. Louis, Sept. 17.—The Missouri Association for Criminal Justice today took up the report of the committee on mental disorders which was written by Mr. M. A. Bliss, St. Louis alienist. The report was explained in a speech.

When a sub-committee rejected the recommendations that trial judges be allowed to come in on evidence and testimony as to the character of witnesses, it eliminated one of the strongest proposals of the state crime survey for putting teeth into the criminal statutes, according to representatives attending the meeting.

The sub-committee members were unanimous in agreeing that the time was not yet ripe to present this proposal to the legislature.

Wlil Arrange Pact to Stop Smuggling

Negotiations For Agreement With Canada Will Be Started Last Of Month, Andrews Announces.

Washington, Sept. 16.—A new anti-smuggling agreement with Canada, similar to one recently arranged with England, will be negotiated late this month by Canadian and United States officials, assistant secretary of the treasury Andrews announced.

The pact will be a "business agreement" for the exchange of information to prevent liquor smuggling, and not a treaty, Andrews said. The agreement will be a two-way affair to stop the flow of rum into the United States and also to end smuggling of bootleg liquor into the dry provinces of Canada from America.

Secretary Kellogg is now arranging the date for the conference, it is understood. Where the meeting will be held has not been decided.

Andrews will ask a complete study of the Canadian situation as soon as the conference of the dry administration is concluded next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Beaver of Council Bluffs are visiting relatives in and near Elmo.

Weather

Unsettled tonight and tomorrow; probably local thunderstorms.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS.

Each and every man ought to interest himself in public affairs. There is no happiness in mere dollars. After they are acquired, one can use but a very moderate amount. It is given a man to eat so much, to wear so much, and to have so much shelter, but more he cannot use. When money has supplies these, its mission, so far as the individual is concerned, is fulfilled, and man must look still further and higher. It is only in wide public affairs, where money is a moving force toward the general welfare, that the possessor of it can possibly find pleasure, and that only in constantly doing more. The greatest good a man can do is to cultivate himself, develop his powers, in order that he may be of greater service to humanity.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

By Charles P. Stewart.
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—A woman president!

Viscountess Astor's suggestion does not appear to have been taken very seriously at National Woman's Party headquarters, and yet there's an atmosphere of satisfaction there over the fact that it's been definitely made.

The impression seems to be that something may come of it yet.

The National Women's Party management passed out word some time ago that women aren't satisfied with what they've been getting thus far from either of the country's major political groups.

They want more of the higher governmental offices, and they're tired of getting most of their nominations in localities where the politicians know they can't win.

Higher offices? I asked a number of leaders at National Woman's headquarters just what this meant and the answer generally was—oh, some Senate seats, more in the House of Representatives, maybe a cabinet member or two.

But when I inquired about the presidency, they all shied away from a direct reply. I don't quite understand why. Perhaps because they considered a woman president an absolute impossibility at present and preferred to confine themselves to demanding what they think there's some chance they may get.

Getting down to practical politics, there's more or less sentiment about National Woman's Party headquarters that the time may come—not in 1928, but maybe in 1932 or 1936—when one of the big parties will give the vice-presidential nomination to a woman.

And several vice presidents have become presidents.

41,000 More Men Than Women in Ireland

Dublin, Sept. 16.—One reason Irish girls smile is that are in great demand, for the current census shows that there are 41,000 more men than women in the Irish Free State.

This proportion of girls to men is the lowest of any European country.

In Northern Ireland the situation is reversed, with 40,000 more men than girls. In Great Britain there are 1,000,000 more girls and women than there are men; in France the excess of women over men is 2,000,000.

Weather Unfavorable for Maturing Crops

Missouri Corn Needs Warm, Drying-Out Weather.—Fall Plowing Well Along—Apples Are Ripe.

The continuation of cloudy weather, with general and heavy rains on three days, made another unfavorable week for maturing crops and fall work in most of Missouri north of the Ozarks, according to the weekly weather and crop bulletin for the week ending Tuesday, according to George Reeder, meteorologist at Columbia for the United States Department of Agriculture.

"In the southeastern counties and generally in the Ozarks," the report says, "there was several days of relatively favorable weather.

"Up to the first of August the total rainfall for the season was about thirty per cent behind the normal. The rains of the last two weeks about made up the deficiency, and, unfortunately, about forty days too late for best crop results. Two weeks or more of continuous dry, warm weather is needed for making safe the bulk of the corn, sorghums, and legume crops from possibly early frost.

"Some early corn has matured but it is not well filled, due to lack of rain in July. Some late corn has been helped by recent rains but will require forty days in which to mature. Considerable in the northeast counties is down because of soft ground and overflowed bottoms. The bulk of the crop is well eared but maturing slowly, and needs warm, drying-out weather and about two weeks of it. The work of filling silos made fair progress between showers.

"Plowing for fall seeding is well along. Pastures, alfalfa, sorghums and legumes have done well but now need dry weather. The apple harvest has begun.

The southeastern cotton crop made fair progress, making, however, rather rank growth in the bottoms. Leaf worms are at work, which may be an advantage. Picking is underway.

MOUNT TABOR.

George and Walter Huff shipped cattle to Omaha Saturday. Elmer Carlson made a shipment the same day.

Lee McCumber sold his hogs to Leonard Yaple. Ben Twaddle trucked them to Braddyville.

John Marvin, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Riggle, has been quite ill.

Mrs. May spent Monday night at the Ernest Smith home and Tuesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Livengood.

Henry Harness, our efficient road boss, has spent the last week and a half repairing bridges and patching up the roads damaged by the recent heavy rains and flood.

The Elmer Eckers' were entertained at William Eckers' Sunday.

It is unfortunate that the roads are usually graded after the busy season on the farm is over as they do not have time to pack before the fall rains set in. But with the regular use of the road drag such as we have had on the Mount Tabor-Elmo road the past week, the roads can be greatly improved. We might even return to the state of excellence when this strip of road was popularly called "Ford Avenue."

Winifred and Yale Snodderly are staying at the home of their grandfather, Jake Snodderly, in Elmo and attending school there. The family expect to move in later.

Mount Tabor is represented in the Junior High department of the Elmo school by Myron Elmas James and in the high school by Beulah Carlson and Samuel Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Twaddle and children were among twenty families who attended an "Irish" picnic at Coin, Ia., Saturday. "Eats," baseball and "barnyard golf" furnished the recreations for the day.

Ernest Smith sowed grass seed on his brother's farm east of Braddyville Monday.

Ye home folks of Mount Tabor, if you have been born, got married, died or had any other accident send in the news or give it to the children. It is the unusual news we want most. Boost your community and give the children some actual practice in meeting and dealing with their fellows, thus increasing their worth as future members of the community and thereby the state and nation.

That means richer flavor

WHEN children say they don't like oats, it's usually because rich Quaker flavor is missing.

Children who ordinarily don't take to oats are often quickly won to this important food, simply by giving them "Quaker."

The flavor is uniquely different; toasty, rich and creamy. Quaker Oats alone has it. Some 50 years were spent in perfecting it.

Quaker milling, too, retains much of the "bulk" of oats. And that makes laxatives less often needed. Thus protein, carbohydrates and vitamines and "bulk" combine in making Quaker Oats an excellently balanced ration.

Get Quick Quaker (cooks in 3 to 5 minutes) or Quaker Oats today at your grocer.

An Evidence of Refinement

Good taste and good health demand sound teeth and sweet breath.

The use of Wrigley's chewing gum takes care of this important item of personal hygiene in a delightful, refreshing way.

Wrigley's removes odors of dining or smoking from the breath by cleaning the teeth, by stimulating the flow of digestive juices, and by the antiseptic action of the flavoring extracts for which Wrigley's is famous—"The Flavor Lasts!"

The result is a sweet breath that evidences care for one's self and consideration for others — the final touch of refinement.

Wrigley's is a thrice daily routine of people of refinement.

W. R. C. Meeting.

The regular meeting of the W. R. C. will be held at 2:30 o'clock afternoon in the Veterans Association club rooms.

For Recent Bride.

Mrs. Don Martin entertained informally at bridge last night in compliment to Mrs. R. Dean Blagg, a September bride. The guests were limited to the friends of the honor guest.

Compliment Denver Guests.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Linville were hosts at a 12 o'clock dinner today at their home on West Second street, entertaining in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Dodds of Denver, Colo. Additional guests included Mrs. M. Rittenour and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kerr.

Select Bazaar Date.

Executives of the Women's Council of the Christian Church and chairmen of the bazaar committees held a business meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howard Strong on West First street. It was decided to hold the annual bazaar on Dec. 4 and arrangements for serving both dinner and supper were made.

Annual T. E. L. Picnic.

The annual picnic of the T. E. L. Class of the Baptist Church in the Sunday School rooms at the church last evening was atended by fifty persons. Supper was served picnic style and the remainder of the evening was spent socially. The affair was changed from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard New, to the church on account of the inclement weather.

C. C. Club Elects Officers.

Ten members of the C. C. Club of the Swallow district attended the first meeting of the fall yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edison Blagg. Roll call was answered by favorite flowers. At the business session the annual election of officers was held. Mrs. James Evans was elected president; Mrs. J. D. Mutz, vice-president; and Miss Minnie Fox, secretary and treasurer. Plans for the coming year were discussed. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Maenora Shamberger. The club will be entertained Sept. 30 at the home of Mrs. Will Brackin.

R. N. I. Club.

The September meeting of the R. N. I. Club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Tom Clark on East Sixth street with Mrs. Steve Donahue, Mrs. Fern Crull and Mrs. Claude Stults as joint hostesses. A short business session was held and the rest of the afternoon was spent socially. Refreshments were served by the hostess. Twenty-nine were present including the following visitors: Miss Belt, Mrs. J. J. Turner, Mrs. E. W. Heideman, Miss Crull and Mrs. J. J. Ryan. The annual election of officers will take place at the October meeting to be held at the home of Mrs W. T. Gray on West Fourth street.

Herron Homemaking Circle.

Mrs. Harry Fisher entertained the members of the Herron Homemaking Circle yesterday afternoon. The afternoon was spent in needlework, after which refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Grace Fisher. Mrs. Orb Griffey drew a present from the birthday box. Those present were Mrs. William Neidel, Mrs. Dave Neidel, Mrs. J. C. F. Taylor, Mrs. Orb Griffey, Mrs. S. E. Fisher, Mrs Delbert Vert, Mrs. Charles Workman and son, Lester, Miss Grace Fisher and Betty Lou Vert. Mrs. Wilfred Taylor will be hostess to the club Sept. 29.

L. I. Club.

Mrs. Ida Morris and Miss Ethel Morris were hostesses at the last meeting of the L. I. Club. The meeting opened with singing of "Somebody." Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served, Mrs. Ewing assisting the hostesses. Mrs. Anderson was a guest, and the members and children present were Mrs. Frank Ulmer, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Rufus Ringgold, Mrs. Gillispie, Mrs. Ingels, Mrs. Florea and children, Harold and Wilma Ingels, Dale Florea and the hostesses. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Charles Taylor. Miss Valta Ringgold will be the leader of a miscellaneous program.

Entertain at Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. James Middleton gave a 1 o'clock dinner yesterday when they entertained Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Haaki and son of Sioux City, Ia., Stanton Carter of Cheyenne, Wyo., and Miss Opal Middleton.

Highways Improved All Over Country

More than 50,000 Miles Of Roadway But in Better Condition Each Year.

Washington, Sept. 17.—Highways in the United States are being improved at the rate of 50,000 miles a year, according to the American Road Builders Association.

This phenomenal rate necessitates a yearly expenditure of state local and federal highway bureaus of $1,200,000,000.

"The road system in the United States is so enormous that few laymen can grasp its meaning," H. G. Shirley, president of the association declared.

"There are enough roads in this country to completely girt the earth 120 times, or estimating the average width at 18 feet, to make a single highway around the world, 2,160 feet in width," Shirley said.

"The first modern transcontinental highway will in all probability be completed before the end of the present summer. This will be a hard surface road of enormous width from coast to coast, passing through Washington, St. Louis, Texarkana, El Paso and Southern California. Its length is a little more than 3,400 miles and already more than 90 percent of the road has been completed. Its completion should be an epoch in the history of roadmarking."

The immediate goal of the highway associations, Shirley said, is the completion of the 182,000 mile federal aid system. Already 140,000 miles of this system has been improved to some degree, he said, and work on the remainder is progressing favorably.

Police of London Recover Motor Cars

London—Of every 100 cars stolen in London, 75 are promptly recovered by the police and restored to their owners, according to the report of the Chief Commissioner of Police for the Metropolitan area.

Within a few minutes of the time when the owner reports his loss, every police station in Greater London receives by telegraph a full description of the car. This is immediately mimeographed, and a constable leaves the station with copies, one of which he gives to every constable in the district. The constable, knowing that he may get a substantial reward for vigilance, commits the description to memory and straightway examines every car that passes.

In the meantime a similar description goes out through the provinces either by telegraph or by mail, and in a very short time every constable in England, Wales and Scotland has a description of the missing car in his pocket.

Those cars which are not recovered are presumed to be those which are quickly run into the thieves' garage and thorbughly changed in appearance or "cached" for several months until they can be safely taken out and sold.

Good Hope

Some of us in this part of the county think we are almost ruined on account of the heavy rains that come every day. The potatoes are in a bed of water and rotting; the corn, the big tall corn, for which Nodaway County is famous, is toppling over because the fields are so soft from being water soaked, and several acres of hay is down with new grasses growing up through it, all because it rained after it was cut before drying sufficiently to put up. Yet, we are a lucky people so far, when we read of other localities being overflowed and many homes and lives being lost, aside from the millions of dollars worth of damage in different sections of the country. Last night's was the worst electrical storm of the season, and the rain came down in torrents.

The roads and especially the byroads are in a frightful condition. The culverts in places are gone, and the bridges damaged, all because of so much rain. Road tax? Yes, it will take a lot of it to get things back to normal in these parts.

The pastor of Good Hope, the Rev. H. F. Dorcas, who lives in Clearmont, left yesterday morning for Stanberry to attend the annual conference of the M. E. Church.

The program which the Farmers Union local at Highland was to have given in Hopkins Wednesday evening, has been postponed unfil Wednesday evening of next week. The hard rains have caused the postmonement.

Mrs. Jane Snodgrass, sister of Joe and Tine Miller, who has been visiting her brothers and others relatives for a few weeks, left for her home in Boise, Idaho, last Saturday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Miller accompanied her to Omaha.

There was Sunday School at Good Hope last Sunday but no preaching. The Rev. Mr. Dorcas started out from Clearmont but the roads were so heavy from Saturday night's rain he couldn't get out.

Mr. and Mrs. Andy Morehouse, from southeast of Hopkins, accompanied by Mrs. Morehouse's sister, Miss Ulala Kysar, spent Sunday with Andy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leman Morehouse.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Wilson attended the funeral of Mr. Clayton, an uncle of Mrs. Wilson, last Monday afternoon. The body was brought up Saturday night on the evening train and was buried at Siam, Ia.

Fine-grained cakes

depend upon the way the batter is made. You mix the flour and the liquids together, a little at a time, so you can beat the batter to a perfect consistency. This principle of control is followed by Hills Bros. in roasting coffee. A little at a time is roasted and a rich, uniform flavor is the result.

A cup of Hills Bros Coffee will prove the value of Controlled Roasting

SUCH aroma! Such flavor! Why, there is no coffee in the world like it. And the marvelous part about it is that you get the same thrill every time you drink Hills Bros. Coffee.

Controlled Roasting—Hills Bros.' patented process—is the reason for this excellence. No other coffee is roasted the same way. That's why you should always ask for Hills Bros. by name and look for the Arab on the can.

Fishing Coal in Canal Draws Fine in England

London, Sept. 17.—One of the innumerable things which you can not do in England is to fish coal out of the bottom of a canal.

Two workingmen tried it the other day, in bathing suits and equipped with grimy bags for their treasure. The constable "ran them in" just on general principles, and the bench of magistrates decided after some hesitation that "it was not done."

The defendants were fined $5 a piece.

Japanese Plan Fair to Celebrate Peace

Osaka, Japan.—Plans are being drawn up for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the restoration of world peace through an exposition here to which the world will be invited.

The promoters, including the mayor, the governor and the president of the chamber of commerce, estimate that the exposition will cost $13,000,000 gold, towards which the national government will be asked to appropriate $3,000,000 the city of Osaka underwriting the rest.

TO U. S. FOR LABOR LESSON

ENGLAND ECONOMIST SAYS BRITAIN CAN LEARN MUCH.

MONEY MAKING VIRTUE

Worse Dangers In Envy, Hatred And Bitterness Between Nations Of Old Country He Believes.

London, Sept. 17.—The United States will encounter the dangers of prosperity, but there are worse dangers in the envy, hatred and bitterness between employers and employed which Great Britain is experiencing, warns the "Gloomy Dean," the Very Rev. W. R. Inge, Dean of St. Paul's writing in The Evening Standard.

"We have two object lessons before us," he tells the English. "On one side is America, faithful to sound economic traditions, and rolling in prosperity. On the other side is Russia, the Russia of Lenin, ruined, miserable, paralyzed with terror. May we not say, look on this picture, and on this?"

Dean Inge agrees with Dr. Johnson that "a man is seldom more harmlessly occupied than when he is making money?" and he subscribes to this as "Contradicting nothing in the Gospel."

"The fact is simply that while Europe has been following various will-o'-the-whisps which are usually described collectively as Socialism, America has adhered to the economic creed of the Benthamite Radicals and the Victorian Liberals. The much-abused economists of 80 years ago have now been proved to be right, while every propheey of the Socialists has been completely falsified and every one of their schemes as soon as tried has been proved to be unworkable.

"There is, I was assured last year when I visited America, very little Socialism there now because every workingman there is himself a capitalist. That is one result. The other is that no country has ever been half so prosperous as the United States is today."

Friendly co-operation between employers and the workers is not the only reason for America's good fortune, he added. America, he declared, is "the man who won by the war" while Europe squandered its resources. Moreover, America is thinly populated while Europe is crowded and is using only her best natural resources while England is working all her resources.

"America has Niagara for water-power, we have the Thames," he remarked. "America has oil, gold, silver, copper and other metals. We once had some tin."

"There is a very bad spirit among us which we do not find in America," he continued. The ambitious workingman in England no longer wants to be head of a department. He wants to be a Labor leader or professional mischief-maker like the egregious A. J. Cook."

"All these evils may be summed up in the legend of a necessary Class War, the most diabolical theory ever devised for the ruin of civilization. The main part of the guilt belongs to certain intellectuals. These enemies of society are supported by muddle-headed sentimentalists. This poison is being steadily and craftily dropped into the minds of the workingmen who are not educated enough to see through the monstrous fallacies on which the whole theory of Marxism is built.

"It is ill will fed by false and poisonous social teaching which makes our English economic problems so unhopeful and our people so unhappy."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sewell and daughter, Mary Cecil, who have been visiting Mr. Sewell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Sewell, left today for Springfield, Mo., to make their future home. Mr. and Mrs. Sewell formerly lived in Holdredge, Neb.

Mexicans Worship in Own Home Now

Priests Hear Confessions of Faithful In Private Homes—Pamphlets Are Being Distributed.

Mexico City, Sept. 16.—Observance of religious ceremonies in private homes, but with semi-public attendance, has begun as a result of the conflict between the church and state here. Many priests and even bishops are hearing confessions and accepting fees for their services in private homes throughout the capital.

Very limited numbers of the faithful are being served in this manner, but even the scant attendance with possibly limited remuneration to the priests, is serving to a degree to offset the effect of the religious laws.

Propaganda in behalf of the various Catholic organizations and in support of the economic boycott is being carried on by the means of circulars distributed by hand and secretly to the faithful. These single sheet "broadsides" often contain vehement attacks on the legality of the state's position and gives news of church matters that might not otherwise appear in print.

One of the most interesting of these sheets is called "Desde mi sotano"—"from my cellar"—and is filled with anti-state editorials, exhortions to the Catholics to adhere to the boycott in progress and with news of the events of the church.

In a recent number an attack is made on the government on the theory and its international relationships, particularly with the United States, are driving the country to destruction.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rhodes went to Kansas City today to attend the convention of Edison dealers. They will be the guests of Mrs. Rhodes' brothers, Leslie and Merle Ellsworth, and families.

What Nodaway County Churches Are Doing

From Shirt Sleeves to Shirt Sleeves

Comment on the Uniform International Sunday School Lesson for September 19, 1926.
Read Leviticus 26.

Wm. Southern, Jr.

Is it by chance that so many sons and daughters of rich men are found to be worthless, and that their names appear upon the scandal pages of the papers?

Is it by cvhance that we find the old adage "It is only two generations between shirt sleeves and shirtsleeves" so often true?

Is it by chance that so many sons of poor preachers reared in Godly atmosphere, in a family where a blessing is said at the table and where prayers are familiar, grow into strong men and useful?

Or do these things all happen because of the inevitable laws of God?

The Book of Leviticus, the third book in the Bible, is the statute book of the nation of Israel for about the year 1491 B. C. The name comes from the tribe of Levi which was set apart as the priestly tribe. As the church and the state were the same at that time in Israel, the Levites were the law making tribe, we might almost say the legislature for the nation.

The written constitution for the nation came with Moses from the Mount. It is known as the Ten Commandments. A constitution is a declaration of principles. Other laws are statutes, based upon the constitution. The constitution of the United States occupies only a few pages in the law books, while the libraries can hardly hold all the statutes.

Many states and many writers make the mistake of putting statutes into the constitution. Oklahoma was a conspicuous example. The constitution of the United States has stood as long as it has and is declared to be one of the greatest documents of the kind ever written, because it was confined to a declaration of principles. The Ten Commandments stand today as the great constitution of the peoples of the world.

I wish, just for my own satisfaction, that a committee of good lawyers, and by good I mean not only competent but lawyers who believe in the eternal God, could be organized and codify and classify the books of Leviticus. To most of us it is tiresome reading. It regulates almost everything from worship to sanitary conditions and the way to dress food. We hear a lot of talk about laws interfering with our rights. Just read Leviticus. If such a codification and classification should be competently made I am sure that the book would become one of absorbing interest. We would understand and appreciate it better.

When the statutes had been completed and were ready to be proclaimed as law those old law makers appended an address begging for obedience to law. There were plenty of people who objected to so many laws just as there are now. No doubt there were meetings among the tribes protesting against some of the laws. No doubt also the laws were not enforced perfectly. Other tribes pointed in scorn at the Levites and demanded to know where they got their superior learning and authority to make laws.

Human nature was recognized by the law makers and they, in the 26th chapter, attached a few penalties, put teeth into the laws. Listen to this:

"If ye walk in my statutes and keep my commandments, and do them: then I will give you rain in due season, and the land shall yield her increase, and the trees of the field shall yield their fruit, and your thrashing shall reach unto the vintage, and the vintage shall reach unto sowing time, and ye shall eat your bread to the full, and dwell in your land safely."

It was a promise of reward and at the same time a threat of destruction. How long would we endure as a prosperous and happy people should God stop the rainfall over the world? We talk about our great accomplishments, our wonderful discoveries, our ability to grow wealthy and prosperous, but no man can bring the rains and no man knows how they are regulated. An inch of water over an acre of ground weighs, according to mathematicians, 113 tons. What holds that enormous weight in the filmy clouds above us and what releases it?

Do you for a moment believe that rain comes by chance? By simply stopping the rains God could destroy the peoples of the earth.

Sophisticated people sneer at the idea that obedience to God's laws brings peace and prosperity and happiness and that the breaking of God's laws brings misery and degredation. We see the wicked prosperous and the righteous in rags. That is all we see. These same men laugh at the idea of a nation prospering when it obeys God's laws.

Is it by chance that we find the States has experienced a period of prosperity such as it never knew, such as no nation ever knew, since prohibition became a part of our organic law?

When the wets in Washington were trying to make propaganda against prohibition and to show how much worse off we are than when we had a saloon on every main corner in every city, one witness gave startling testimony which was not front paged in big headlines. He said "You must choose between prosperity and hard times. You can not have the old time saloons back again and the prosperity you are now enjoying at the same time. You have your choice."

Sounds almost like the Leviticus address. Repeal this law and go back to misery and poverty for the working people, graft and wicked wealth for the brewer and the distiller, ruin and drunkenness for our sons and drunken husbands for our daughters. It is a promise.

History endorses the words of the old law writers of Leviticus. Run back over the history of nations and you will find the promise made in our text fulfilled to the letter. Nations which disobeyed the laws, which regarded God, were blessed with the rains and the crops and happiness and power. These same nations when they got rich and luxurious and wicked were destroyed and have disappared and other nations have risen on their ruins.

I am firm in the belief that national prosperity and individual happiness can only come from obedience to God's laws. Man's laws are written with God's laws as the constitution, as the declaration of immortal principles. These principles violated, the end is sure.

Individually, also, the law is operative. It is only two generations between shirtsleeves and shirtsleeves.

OBEDIENCE TO LAW.

Scripture Lesson—Lev. 26.

3. If ye walk in my statutes, and keep my commandments, and do them:

4. Then I will give you rain in due season, and the land shall yield her increase, and the trees of the field shall yield their fruit.

5. And your threshing shall reach unto the vintage, and the vintage shall reach unto the sowing time; and ye shall eat your bread to the full, and dwell in your land safely.

14. But if ye will not harken unto me, and will not do all these commandments;

15. And if ye shall despise my statutes, or if your soul abhor my judgments, so that ye will not do all my commandments, but that ye break my covenant:

16. I also will do this unto you; I will even appoint over your terror, consumption, and the burning ague, that shall consume the eyes, and cause sorrow of heart: and ye shall sow your seed in vain, for your enemies shall eat it.

17. And I will set my face against you, and ye shall be slain before your enemies; they that hate you shall reign over you; and ye shall flee when none pursueth you.

18. And if ye will not yet for all this hearken unto me, then I will punish you seven times more for your sins.

19. And I will break the pride of your power; and I will make your heaven as iron, and your earth as brass.

20. And your strength shall be spent in vain; for your land shall not yield her increase, neither shall the trees of the land yield their fruits.

We are making special plans for Rally Day by the way of a basket dinner with the hope of having an out of town speaker for the 2:30 p. m. service. This means that we will expect to see all members out Sept. 26th.

The Aid Society will meet next Friday with Mrs. Frank Andrews.

Ther is a movement on foot to build a new Baptist parsonage on the site occupied by the present one.

Rev. Gartin was presented with a purse of over $200 this week, with more to follow, to help cover the loss he sustained by the fire at the parsonage Monday forenoon.

Fire At Baptist Parsonage.

Last Monday morning being damp and cold, Mrs. A. L. Gartin, wife of the pastor of the Baptist church, decided to start an oil stove to warm up the rooms, being the only member of the family at home at the time. After lighting the stove, she ran across to one of the neighbors on an errand and when she returned, the house was filled with smoke and soot. Fire in some way had started from the stove and the curtains were burned from the windows, but on account of the house being shut up, the flames did not gain much headway, the smoke and soot doing more damage than the flames although the paint and varnish was burned from the furniture, including the pimo. The soot seemed to have penetrated every nook and corner of the house, the bedding and clothing being as black as if dragged through a big coal bin. The damage to the parsonage is covered by insurance in the Nodaway County Mutual, but there is no insurance on the contents and the loss is considerable to the minister.

Officer Tells Of Work In Caring For Sick And Aged, At Annual Conference At Stanberry.

Stanberry, Mo., Sept. 17.—"There are seventy-eight hospitals and sanitoriums with 7,532 beds, having a valuation of $31,136,740, and an endowment of $4,560,935," said Dr. S. W. Robinson, Chicago, Assistant Secretary of the Board of Hospitals, Home and Deaconess Work of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at the Missouri Annual Conference here yesterday.

"There are thirty-nine homes for the aged," said Dr. Robinson, "with 2,208 beds, having a valuation of $4,964,306 and an endowment of $2,734,165; and forty-four homes for children, with 2,935 beds, having a valuation of $6,072,878 and an endowment of $1,415,165; fifty deaconess homes with 682 beds, having a valuation of $2,341,128 and an endowment of $474,503; sixteen other institutions, with 384 beds, valued at $682,774, and eleven training schools with 313 beds valued at $1,104,000 and endowed with $19,700.

"The total value of the institutions and endowment is $56,831,946. The total number of patients receiving care in 1924 was 233,214; children in homes, 2,672; patients in homes for aged, 1,885; in deaconess homes 682, and other institutions 842.

"Twenty-four hundred undergraduate nurses have been received into training during the year; some Methodist Hospitals report three times as many applicants as places vacant. There are 1,600 physicians and surgeons on the staff. A survey of the deaconess workers reveals that 189 are college graduates, 14 normal school graduates, and 89 graduate registered nurses. There are 95 retired deaconesses and 181 deaconesses have given the church twenty-five years or more service.

"At the present time there are in the United States 1,035 deaconesses who are serving the Church in various capacities. In Mexico and South America there are 16 deaconesses consisting primarily of young native workers who are now taking their places side by side with their brothers in the ministry. There are about 1,000 deaconesses in Europe. The work in Europe is centered almost entirely around the Deaconess Mother House, however, and in its institutions of healing and child welfare.

"There are 150 deaconesses who are members of the German Deaconess Association. More than 400 deaconesses are members of the Methodist Deaconess Association, and the Women's Home Missionary Society has more than 450 deaconesses working under their supervision.

"Many types of work are being done by the 265 deaconesses in active service who are filling various positions in the local church as pastor, parish deaconess, director of religious education, pastor's assistant, and church secretary. This composes the largest group ministering to one particular phase of church work.

"There are more than 200 deaconesses serving the Church as directors of settlements, directors of day nurseries, kindergarten, and in other types of work done in settlements and in institutional churches.

"More than 100 deaconesses hold various positions in Methodist hospitals covering particularly every type of work in a modern equipped hospital. In Montana there are now ten hospitals, which are superintended and conducted by deaconesses. This is the largest number of hospital executives in any one State, but their work in this field is spreading throughout almost every section of the United States.

Presbyterians Will Have Special Program

To Be Given At Opening Of Sunday School—Miss Marie Davis To Lead Christian Endeavor Meeting.

A special program has been arranged for the opening of the Presbyterian Sunday School Sunday, beginning at 9:30 o'clock. At the morning church services at 10:45 o'clock, the pastor, the Rev. William N. Dewar, will preach on "The Science of Life."

Miss Marie Davis will be in charge of the young people's Christian Endeavor meeting, beginning at 7 o'clock Sunday evening. The subject will be "The Progress of Missions In India." At this meeting, new officers will be elected.

"Life's Unfailing Power" will be the subject of the sermon by the Rev. Mr. Dewar at the evening church services, which will begin at 8 o'clock.

The junior boy scouts will meet at 7 o'clock Thursday evening.

The Lord's Supper will be celebrated on Sunday morning, October 3. The elders and deacons-elect will be ordained at this service. Parents desiring baptism for their children or anyone wishing to unite with the church, either by letter or on confession of faith, should notify the minister prior to the service.

A hearty invitation is extended to the public.

Rev. J. J. Cokley of Skidmore Delivers Memorial Address at M. E. Conference

(By the Rev. J. Howard Thompson, Pastor M. E. Church at Burlington Junction.)

Stanberry, Mo., Sept. 15, 1926.

Editor Democrat-Forum:

Promptly at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday J. R. Harper, secretary of the Conference and pastor at Moberly, Mo., called the roll of the Conference, when 67 full members and three probationers answered to their names, many having been detafned, on account of high waters and washouts. The Bishop not yet having arrived, Dr. E. L. Robinson, and the district superintendent of the Cameron District, was in the chair, and conducted the devotions. Following the devotions, the Holy Sacrament was observed by Dr. Robinson, assisted by the other district superintendents and Dr. J. W. Anderson, a superannuate member of the Conference. At the conclusion of this holy service Dr. E. B. Thompson, the district superintendent of the St. Joseph District and chairman of the Committee on Memoirs, took charge and introduced Rev. C. S. Dayhoff, of Westboro, who offered prayer following which Rev. J. J. Cokley of Skidmore, was introduced, and delivered as fine a memorial address as was ever given at any session of the Conference. Full of tenderness and comfort and inspiration to those who heard it. It was revealed in his address that no members of the Conference had died during the year, but four wives of ministers had died within the past twelve months, namely: Mrs. Samuel Carrothus of Cameron, Mrs. W. H. Welton of Skidmore, Mrs. J. W. Anderson of Keokuk, Ia., and Mrs. J. J. Smiley of St. Joseph. At the conclusion of this service, the Conference was officially organized, by electing J. R. Harper, secretary; E. N. Garrett, treasurer; E. W. Croy, statistician; L. E. Wheeler, post master and soliciitor for the Methodist Review. The local pastor, J. N. Moats, being sick and not able to attend the Conference, and one deceased member, R. L. Thompson, having been buried in the cemetery here, flowers were ordered carried to the sick room and to the grave of the deceased.

It was then announced that Bishop Leete had arrived, and Dr. Robinson immediately surrendered the chair to him, and for the next 40 minutes he electrified the conference with an address upon our personal living and conduct, and the following transfers into the Conference were announced, H. R. Runyan, from the Southwest Kansas Conference, C. R. Meyers from the Central Illinois Conference and H. C. Morgan from the Colorado Conference, announcements were made and the Conference was adjourned for the noon hour. It reconvened at 2 p. m. in what we call a Statistical session for the purpose of receiving the reports from the Conference, and this was done by Districts.

The day was climaxed however, by the night session, when at 8 o'clock Bishop George Miller, of Mexico City, Mexico, gave his address, on conditions in Mexico at the present time. He stated the Mexican government had no quarrel with any church, society, religion or organization, as it was only wanting its people to be law abiding citizens and obey the mandates of its constitution. At the close of the address Bishop Leete asked for an offering to assist Bishop Miller in his work in Mexico and $130. was put into his hand, the largest gift, the bishop stated, of any conference that he had visited thus far.

The entire day was full of thrills from start to finish.

Services at H. S. to Be Held as Usual Sun.

Morning Sermon Subject To Be "Turning Defeat Into Victory"—Carl Leroy Fisher To Give Report.

Christian Church services will be held at the Maryville High School building Sunday as usual. Work is progressing rapidly on the church building but it will probably be a month before the building will be ready.

At the church services Sunday morning, the pastor, the Rev. R. E. Musgrave, will preach on "Turning Defeat Into Victory." The evening subject has not yet been announced.

Carl Leroy Fisher will give a report of the summer camp in Colorado at the opening program of the Sunday school.

The annual Rally Day at the Christian Church will be held on September 26, it was announced this morning by the Rev. Mr. Musgrave. Every effort will be made to secure a large attendance on that day.

Members of the Christian Church choir are urged to attend the practice at the high school building at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

A SUCESSFUL REVIVAL YEAR

REV. SNODGRASS SECURES 1,410 ADDITIONS.

HOLDS 14 MEETINGS

Tours South And East During Summer Already Scheduled Up Until Next Easter.

A total of 1,410 additions to the church have been secured by the Rev. R. E. Snodgrass in the fourteen meetings he has held since September 1 of last year, a compilation of results shows.

The revivals have averaged from two to four weeks in duration.

On May 15, the Rev. Mr. Snodgrass and family left Maryville for a tour through the South and East. They visited at the home of the Rev. Roy C. Snodgrass, brother of the Maryville evangelist, at Enid, Okla., and then went to Elizabethton, Tenn., where the Snodgrass-Tebow party held a four-weeks meeting, which resulted in eighty-nine additions to the church. They then went to Johnson City, Tenn., for a four-weeks meeting. Fifty additions were secured there.

The party then spent two weeks at Pocahontas, Va., resulting in forty-five additions. From there, the evangelistic party went to the famous Shenandoah valley of Virginia, where a tabernacle revival was held with four churches co-operating. The meeting was for three weeks and there were sixty additions.

The party then returned to Maryville, and the Rev. Mr. Snodgrass left yesterday afternoon for Iowa City, where he will conduct a four-weeks meeting. He will then go to Jacksonville, Fla., for a meeting, returning to Memphis, Tenn., for the international convention. From Memphis, he will go to Enid, Okla., to conduct a meeting at the church where his brother is pastor. The next meeting will be at Vinton, Ia., and from there, the Rev. Mr. Snodgrass will go to Pittsburgh, Pa., and then to Butler, Pa., and Kokomo, Ind.

This schedule will extend until after next Easter. The party will probably spend next summer in the Virginia Valley again.

While in Maryville this week, the Rev. Mr. Snodgrass declined to comment on the United States Senatorial race in Missouri this year. He also did not discuss the world court.

Mitchell to Talk to College Bible Class

New Pipe Organ To Be Played At M. E. Church, South, Sunday Morning—Special Music Arranged.

"No Substitute For Christ" will be the subject of the sermon by the Rev. R. A. Mitchell, pastor of the M. E. Church, South, at the services Sunday morning, beginning at 10:45 o'clock. The choir will sing the anthem, "Let Mount Zion Rejoice."

The new pipe organ will be played by Charles R. Gardner of the Conservatory of Music.

Epworth League services will begin at 7 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock, at the evening church services, the Rev. Mr. Mitchell will have for his subject, "Memories and Hope."

The pastor will talk to the members of the College Bible class Sunday morning. His subject will be "Finding a Purpose."

DRAMATIC EVENTS IN BIBLE HISTORY : : By Harlowe R. Hoyt and Walter Scott

Journeying to Canaan

Following the directions of Jehovah, Moses constructed a Tabernacle, that his people might remember their Lord and not sin again by turning to idolatry.
Within a large outer court stood the inner sanctuary, the Holy of Holies. In this was the Ark of the Covenant, a golden chest which contained the two tables of the law.
The pillar of cloud rested on the tent and when it moved, so moved the Israelites. The ark was carried before the wanderers, and each morning and evening, Moses offered prayer.
Once again, as so often they had done, the Israelites murmured evil in the ears of Jehovah. In anger He kindled the furthermost parts of the camp, nor did the fire abate until Moses had interceded for his people.

The VANITY CASE

IFA FICTION

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

In Harbor Gardens, Long Island, in an elaborte bungalow, lived PERRY HEATH and his wife, MYRA.

At the time the story opens the Heaths were entertaining as house guests:

LAWRENCE INMAN, a distant relative of Myra's and, aside from Perry, the only heir to her considerable fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, young, vivacious, golden-haired, an old friend of Myra's.

Myra Heath was a peculiar woman. She was cold, sarcastic. She did not love her husband, but seemed enamored of Inman. She never used cosmetics or dressed in colors. In fact, her hatred of color amounted to a passion. She collected rare old bottles and her latest was a whisky bottle which she was quite proud of but which aroused her artistic husband to scorn.

There is a growing intimacy between Perry Heath and Bunny. Myra, becoming provoked, declares that she has made her will in favor of Inman, cutting Perry off.

That night, after Bunny and Inman retire, Myra Heath alludes mysteriously to Perry's "secret." When Perry goes to bed, Inman comes down stairs, and he and Myra are discovered in each other's arms later by Perry.

The next morning, Mrs. Prentiss, who lives next door, was telling her nephew, Todhunter Buck, of some mysterious lights she had seen the night before in the Heath bungalow. While they are talking a loud scream from the Heath home interrupts their conversation.

That night Perry Heath, stealing downstairs, discovers his wife in Inman's arms and orders the latter out of the house by morning.

The next day the body of Myra Heath is found in the studio by a servant. A candle is burning at her head and feet, there is a big cut in her head and, strangest of all, her face is made up with cosmetics and she is dressed in outlandish colors.

HERRICK, the butler, after calling the doctor, steals some money from a drawer near the body and then discovers, at Myra's feet, a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath."

The doctor, when he comes, finds that the death blow was struck with Myra's cherished whisky bottle. It is discovered then that Perry Heath is gone, his bed unslept in.

She has been killed by a blow with her cherished whisky bottle. When the coroner comes, Inman and Bunny are strangely nervous when made to answer questions. Meanwhile, at the Country Club the murder is the topic of conversation among SAM ANDERSON, AL CUNNINGHAM and others. MRS. PRENTISS, towing her nephew, TODHUNTER BUCK, goes over to the Heaths and invites Bunny to stay at her house next door. Bunny breaks out crying and Buck, at sight of her beauty, is her slave.

Mrs. Prentiss relates having seen mysterious lights appear and disappear, the night before, in the Heath home, and at the inquest testimony brings out the fact that Bunny Moore knew of the murder before the maid, who went to her room to inform her.

Finger prints of Inman and Bunny Moore are found on the bottle, and the coroner declares his belief that the murderer will be found in the household.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIII.

Had Larry been less perturbed, he must have laughed at the pompous air and stilted diction of the coroner.

But he was dismayed at the turn things had taken. He had had no doubts but that the coroner would at once assume Perry Heath guilty and forwith institute a search for him.

"Your assumptions are not without interest," Larry said, looking at the coroner. "But what, then, is the meaning of the eccentric act of painting Mrs. Heath's face and adding colorful touches to her costume? This point was an obsession with Mr. Heath, but no one else would have done such a thing."

"As I understand it, nearly all of Mrs. Heath's friends and acquaintances urged her to use a touch of make-up, and, too, we have no real reason to assume that the rouge was applied to Mrs. Heath's face after she was dead. It may well be that she consented to the experiment while still alive."

Inman looked startled.

"Surely a medical man can tell you about that," he said.

This speech deeply annoyed the coroner, for he suddenly realized his own delinquency in not having thought of that point.

He therefore ignored it, until such time as he could correct his own error.

"Let me go over the house, and I'll guarantee I can find several ways he could have left his home secretly. Lord knows I've no wish to accuse Perry Heath of this thing if he is not guilty, but, personally, I think there is no slightest sign of his innocence."

"You say you all urged Mrs. Heath to use what is known as 'make-up' on her face?"

"Yes, we did. We all felt it would improve her extremely pale countenance."

"You thought that, too, Miss Moore?"

Osborn had a most disconcerting way to turning with a sudden question to another witness.

"Why yes," Bunny said, pulling herself together. "We have all been in the habit of jesting about it."

"Then the crime was clearly the work of some one who knew of the distaste of Mrs. Heath for cosmetics, and some one who had sufficient nerve to apply the coloring to a dead woman's face."

"You said you were not sure she was dead when—" Larry began, but the coroner interrupted him.

"I am sure now." He referred to a written message which had been handed him. "I asked Doctor Conklin to investigate that matter, and he tells me that the cosmetics were applied to Mrs. Heath's face after death."

"How can he tell?" Larry growled.

"There are many ways to ascertain that. A physician could not be mistaken. Now, what I want to know is where is the vanity box that was used for the purpose."

"That's easy," said Inman. "When I left the room, I saw a gold vanity box with lots of dangling trinkets, lying on the table."

"It is not there now. Who removed it?"

Nobody answered, and the coroner, turning to Bunny, said:

"Do you think it was Mrs. Heath's own?"

"I think it must have been," she replied, but her voice shook in spite of her efforts to keep it steady.

"Then why has it disappeared?"

"I'm sure I don't know," Bunny had recovered her pertness if not her poise. "I suppose whoever used it, carried it off. They are sometimes valuable trifles, and I think it was a burglar who did the whole crime."

She put her head on one side like a wise canary bird, and falling under the spell of her helpless air and wistful countenance, the coroner forbore to question her further.

But, whether by reason of Osborn's lack of skill, or the non-committal evidence of the witnesses, no points of real importance were forthcoming, and the awe-struck bewildered jury brought in the open verdict of murder by unknown hands, but with a strong recommendation that Perry Heath be found.

"Then the card, of such sinister significance. It is scarcely possible that Mr. Heath would have placed that where it was found, if the terrible deed had been really his own work."

"That's just where you're wrong," Larry exclaimed. "Perry Heath is full of the spirit of bravado, he has a diabolical sense of humor. It is exactly what he would do—attach a gruesome signature to his own work."

"I can't agree with that. But we are not seeking opinions, we want facts. If then we assume Mr. Heath went away on some simple or casual errand, where do you think he is now?"

"That is surely a matter of opinion, Mr. Coroner, and you say you are out for facts. But I can't opine about Mr. Heath's casual errand—if he went on one—for I am fully convinced that he killed his wife and then disappeared purposely and permanently."

"Getting out of the house and leaving no unlocked door or window."

"Surely he had his latch key."

"But the front door was fastened on the inside with a chain bolt."

"Then by some overlooked window, or side door, perhaps."

"No, we had the most thorough and careful search made in that respect. Herrick fastened every door and window on the inside, last night. And he found the bars and bolts all intact this morning."

"Then I give it up, but I still feel sure that there must be some obscure entrance or exit from this house, that Perry Heath could use, if so minded."

"Will you suggest one?"

"In the cellar, perhaps the coal hole."

"Not a chance. Everything down there was cut off from the main house, by the upper cellar door, leading from the pantries, and which is the only means of connection with the cellar. This door was locked as usual, on the pantry side. Heath could not have gone down through it, and left it locked."

DELICATE BABIES CAN BE MADE STURDY

Health Is Indicated by a Lusty Wail, Steady Increase in Weight, Firm Muscles and Body Warmth at All Times.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Nothing in the world is more important than the care of an infant. Little babies differ tremendously. Some of them seem so well and strong from the time they first see the world that they hardly need special attention.

On the other hand, some of these little ones are so frail and delicate that they must be looked after almost every minute.

The best evidence of the well-being of a baby is its increase in weight. There should be a pair of scales in every house where there is a new-born infant. At regular intervals the weights should be taken and recorded.

The muscles and skin of a healthy infant have a certain firmness. When this sort of a baby cries you know he means business. He lets out a yell that can be heard in the next block.

It is quite different with an undeveloped and delicate infant. There is no firmness to the body of this child. The skin is tender and soft. When the child cries there is just a feeble moaning or whimpering or whining.

It is necessary to have the muscles of the child good and strong. The act of nursing requires muscular exertion. The muscles of the face and tongue must be strong enough to draw the milk from the mother's breast.

On many occasions I have told you how much overused is the clinical thermometer, as I view it. I do not think the mother should rush for this instrument every time the baby cries or seems to stir. It is a fact, however, that the thermometer gives a very accurate idea of the welfare of the infant. An undernourished and underdeveloped child will have a temperature considerably below normal.

A baby cannot thrive unless kept warm. This does not mean that in hot weather it is necessary to swathe and pad and stifle the child with heavy clothing. A perfectly normal baby can be put out on a sheet in the sunshine entirely divested of clothing. There is no better exercise for a baby than to let him sprawl all he likes unencumbered with the wrappings which would make him miserable if they were left in place.

But this cannot be done with the delicate child. Such an infant must have covers enough to maintain the temperature.

The feeding of a delicate infant is a matter of the greatest importance. On account of the weakness of the muscles and the general frailty he cannot draw nourishment from the breast. Sometimes it is neccessary to use a medicine dropper to put the milk into the mouth. You can see that such an infant requires the most particular care in order that it may survive at all.

The interesting thing about babies such as I have here described is that they may develop into robust adult life. The frailty of the child at birth is no evidence at all what it may be when it grows up. I have in mind now a great six-foot, stalwart young man who was a little, tiny, puling, whining infant. You never would dream to see him today that he was ever anything but a lusty, cooing, kicking, normal baby.

Answers To Health Queries.

Reader. Q.—Is it dangerous to take gas when having a tooth extracted?

A.—No, unless the heart is very bad.

Reader. Q.—What causes my forehead to perspire and my face to feel flushed?

A.—This may be due to poor circulation. Build up the general health and your circulation should improve.

Mrs. P. P. Q.—I have been told that I have a leakage of the heart. Is there a cure? What are the symptoms?

A.—Depends upon the extent of the trouble. Have your doctor advise you. Irregular beating would be the most pronounced symptom.

Says Older Women Wear Thinnest Clothes

Cambridge, Eng., Sept. 17.—Women cannot possibly wear any fewer or any thinner clothes. Take it on the authority of Lewes Hay, chairman of the executive committee of the Drapers Chamber of Trade of England, the absolute finality has been reached. The drapers confess themselves, unable to discover any way of clothing their clients with fewer or flimsier clothing.

Another feminine secret was let out at the convention of drapers here. The older the women become, the gauzier and more diaphanous their garments become. Sir Sidney Skinner, president of the Drapers Chamber of Trade, is authority for this discovery.

Sir Sidney poo-pooed the idea that cold weather might make women wear heavier garments. "They would rather freeze to death than wear woolies," he said.

Passports Demanded of Plane Crash Victims

London, Sept. 17.—The English immigration law is rigid and formidable and the men who enforce it make no exceptions.

When a cross-channel airplane crashed into a haystack near Dymchurch not long ago, killing three of its passengers and injuring twelve, immigration officials from Folkestone were quickly on the spot and the passports and baggage of all the unfortunate passengers were carefully examined. None of the uninjured were allowed to leave until these formalities had been completed.

This happened to a motorist at a Marland station

He had driven all day in dust and for two hours late in the evening through a hard rain.

He drove into a Marland Station for gasoline, oil and water. That is, that was what he thought he was to get. Here's what happened.

One man filled the gasoline tank and looked after the oil. Another gauged the tires and filled the radiator with water—then taking a clean, water filled sponge he washed off the mud spattered windshield on both sides and wiped it with a chamois.

It was his first experience of this kind—the first time any station attendant had ever rendered such a service voluntarily.

In telling us of the experience, he said from then on he watched for the Marland Red Triangle, taking particular delight in looking, as he expressed it, for the stations that not only furnished him with good motor fuels, but went out of their way to help make his driving a pleasure.

A small service—yes. But we have found that the simple matter of wiping off windshields has proven a great help to motorists. Our compensation is their good will which we prize very highly.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Sept. 17.—Grain prices crashed to sharply low levels in all positions on the Chicago Board of Trade today, considerable pressure being evident in all of the pits.

Wheat closed 1⅝ to 2¼ lower than yesterday. Favorable Canadian weather news and liquidations caused pressure at the beginning of the session.

Northwestern receipts are increasing rapidly. Winnipeg has 1,421 cars today and already has 1,400 in sight for tomorrow.

Weakness in wheat, hedging pressure and low liquidation brought an early break in corn. Little of the loss was recovered, the close being 1⅜ to 1⅝ under yesterday. Cash values were 1½ to 1¾ lower.

Oats sagged back into its rut after yesterday's activity. News of grain damage in the shock had a steadying effect and the close was only ¼ to ¾ under that of yesterday. The cash article sold ½ to ¾ cents lower.

Provisions closed lower with the grains after a dull session.

CEDAR RUST IN ORCHARDS

APPLE TREES ARE MENACED BY FUNGUS DISEASE.

NO SPRAY EFFECTIVE

Only Cure Is To Cut Cedar Trees, Which Harbor Disease in Winter, Says Halley Ford.

Nodaway county's apple crop has been much reduced and the life of all apple trees is seriously menaced by an outbreak of cedar rust, a fungus disease, according to Halley Ford, instructor of agriculture in Harmony High School and associated with his father, J. D. Ford, in the management of a forty-acre orchard near Orrsburg.

Jonathan trees, which produce the greater part of the county's commercial apple crop, are most susceptible to the disease, Mr. Ford said, and practically every orchard in the county is affected.

There is no remedy, no prevention, he declared, except the cutting of all cedar trees in the neighborhood of the orchard.

"The cedar rust occurs only where there are both apple and cedar trees," Mr. Ford continued. "The disease lives through the winter on the cedar trees and in the summer gives off a brown powder which is carried by the wind to nearby apple trees. It does not affect other fruits, and apples other than Jonathans are less seriously affected.

"The first indication of the rust is the development of brown spots on the leaves of the apple trees. This is the first year serious damage has been done in this section, but everywhere I have gone the growth covers half of the foliage of Jonathan trees. The leaves, of course, are the 'fruit factories'; if you have only half the feeding surface, you will lessen the vitality of the trees by half."

One or two cedar trees can infect an entire apple orchard, Mr. Ford said, and the disease can be carried in a radius of three miles.

"There is no spray now known which will check or prevent the cedar rust," he added. "And the rust does not harm nor show on the cedars themselves. The only protection for the apple trees is to cut the cedars, but it is pretty hard to prevail upon neighbors to do that."

Development of the fungus depends upon weather conditions, it was stated. The disease may or may not recur next year. Mr. Ford said he had visited orchards this year from Minnesota to Arkansas and that all of them seem to be infected.

The Grigsby orchard, near Skidmore, has some thirty varieties of apples, but only the Jonathans are seriously affected by the rust.

Peaches in this section also were hurt by a fungus growth known as peach scab, and causes the fruit to crack and fall from the trees before ripening. This year the scab was made worse by the recent rains.

The peach scab, Mr. Ford said, is not spread through the air but by insects. It can be controlled by spraying with bordeaux mixture or lime sulphur. The ordinary insect poison, arsenate of lead, will not check the fungus growth, but it may be mixed with the other spray to prevent insect damage.

Railroad Detouring Sport for Two Men

J. F. Hull And E. C. Curfman Go To Omaha To Get Back Home From Jefferson City.

Detouring is not all done on the highways, J. F. Hull and E. C. Curfman, who spent parts of three days trying to get from Jefferson City to Maryville, will tell you. The two men arrived in this city from Omaha via the Wabash railroad shortly before noon today.

Leaving Jefferson City Wednesday afternoon, the two men, who had been attending the Republican state committee meeting, motored to Columbia, where a train was taken to Centralia. There the two received the first information concerning conditions in Maryville after the rains from Donald Williams, who then was enroute to Columbia to re-enter the University of Missouri. After traveling on the Wabash railroad west to Chillicothe the train, carrying Mr. Hull and Mr. Curfman, was routed to St. Joseph and from that city to Omaha, where the two had expected it would be possible to board the Wabash train No. 14 due to arrive in Maryville at 9:45 p. m.

It was in Council Bluffs that the two "railroad detourists" met with a big disappointment. The trainmen there informed them that it had been decided not to run Number 14. Of course, the men could return to St. Joseph but that too would mean staying all night in the Missouri city and being little nearer to Maryville. They remained in Omaha and this morning completed the last lap of their trip which required nearly 500 miles of traveling to come a distance of about 200 miles.

Health Determines Color of One's Eyes

Editor Says Blue Eyes are Sign Of Perfect Health—All Born With Blue Eyes.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 17.—Your health determines whether you have blue, green, gray, hazel, black or brown eyes. Dr. J. D. Levine, editor of a health publication declared in a talk here.

If your eyes are blue with a silken finish you are in perfect health, Dr. Levine said. Abnormal states of body and nerves are responsible for all other colors, he declared.

"Every child is born with blue eyes," Dr. Levine said. "Even negro children at birth have grayish-blue eyes, never a deep dark brown. Changes from blue to green, gray, hazel, brown and other colors are not due to racial, political religious, climatic, or accidental considerations, but to states caused by toxins, acids, inflammations or congestions in the body.

"Ninety percent of the people have brown eyes, which show the presence of toxins. The color may be changed by abstinence from certain food.

"The Irish of the old country are blue-eyed because they are forced to live on a strict diet, frequently and fortunately nothing but potatoes and buttermilk.

"Sailors who breathe the pure oxygen of sea air and mountaineers in high altitudes have blue eyes."

Nations Are in Fear of Each Other

Secretary of Institute of Pacific Relations Impressed by Circle of Fear Around the Pacific.

By A. W. V. King.

(United Press Staff Correspondent).

Sydney, Australia.—A circle of international fear exists all the way around the Pacific, declared J. Merle Davis, general secretary of the Institute of Pacific Relations, upon his return here from a tour of all countries bordering the ocean.

Davis made the trip in an endeavor to arouse greater interest in the peace aims of the Institute and to perfect arrangements for the second conference of the Institute at Honolulu in July, 1927.

"I was much impressed by the circle of fear which exists right around the Pacific," Davis told the United Press here.

"The United States is afraid of certain elements of Japanese life. Japan is desperately afraid of the United States and that was emphasized in 75 interviews I had in that country. America's economic penetration and growing militarism is the way they view it. Japan is also afraid of China and Russia. China is afraid, much afraid, of Japan.

"Here in Australia, the people seem to be afraid of Japan, though again it is acknowledged that Japan can never harm Australia, owing to the great distance between the two countries and the difficulties of transport.

"This element of fear and suspicion the institute is trying to eradicate by the gathering and dissemination of accurate and provable facts affecting food supplies, laws relating to migration and their interpretation by responsible officials, treatment of aliens, and others."

Davis said that in Japan he tried to get past the "internationals," the group of people always brought out to meet Americans, and sought interviews with dozens of the leaders of the reactionary groups including the Fascists.

Pointing out that the Institute of Pacific Relations was confining itself to trying to understand the points of view of different national groups, Davis said that it did not deal with immediate concerns and interests, but took a far and dispassionate view on international matters, and hoped to avoid, if possible, any future conflict between east and west.

"It may not be possible to avoid such a conflict," he added. "We do not think it is. But we appeal to intelligent people in these countries to make an effort to avert such a catastrophe."

Omaha Visitors.

Mrs. J. P. Jones and son, Walace, of Omaha came today to visit Mrs. Jones' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lyle, and other relatives.

Renews Liquor Stand.

He reiterated his stand for the modification of the Volstead act but was careful to point out that he was not pleading for the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The huge expenditures in the Pennsylvania and Illinois Republican Senatorial primaries were decried by Mr. Hawes and he criticized Senator Williams for voting against the Reed resolution for an investigation into these expenditures.

Many sections of Missouri were represented at the formal opening of the Democratic campaign here today. Mrs. Emily Newell Blair, member of the Democratic national committee, is here and has been in conference with party leaders.

Although Senator Reed was given great glory, there is a feeling that the next step is to elect Mr. Hawes Senator and then turn the attention of the party toward Senator Reed's presidential ambitions, if he has any.

Reed Gets Glory.

While not a candidate for office in the coming November election, Reed overshadowed Hawes at the meeting today. The surprise of the day was the warmth and enthusiasm shown for Reed by well-known Democratic leaders who had waged a bitter fight against him in the past history of Missouri Democracy.

The anti-Reed men here are taking the lead in the "harmony" move and there seems to be more talk of Senator Reed from Missouri than of Mr. Hawes who is seeking to defeat Senator Williams in November.

How To Care For Varicose or Swollen Veins

Rub Gently And Upward Toward The Heart As Blood In Veins Flows That Way.

If you or any relative or friend is worried because of varicose veins, or bunches, the best advice that anyone in this world can give you is to ask your druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil (full strength) and apply as directed night and morning to the swollen, enlarged veins. Soon you will notice that they are growing smaller and the treatment should be continued until the veins are of normal size. So penetrating and powerful is Emerald Oil that even Piles are quickly relieved. All druggists sell lots of it.
